

Occupational & Physical Therapists (OT/PT) Directory

Occupational therapy is to help the person with autism improve his or her quality of life. The therapist helps introduce, maintain, and improve skills including; toilet training, dressing, and grooming skills. Fine motor skills are required for holding objects, handwriting or cutting with scissors. Gross motor skills are used for walking, riding a bike, sitting, posture, or perceptual skills (Telling the differences between colors, shapes, and sizes), visual skills for reading and writing
